

*Oh, for a nook
and a story-
book, with tales both new and old; for a jolly good book whereon to look, is better to me than gold.*

*—Old English
Song*

*Oh, for a nook
and a story-
book, With tales both new and old. For a jolly good book
whereon to look, Is better
to me than gold.*

*—Old English
Song*

*Oh, for a nook
and a story-
book, With
tales both new and old. For a
jolly good book
whereon to
look, Is better
to me than gold.*

*—Old English
Song*

*Oh, for a nook
and a story-
book, With
tales both new and old. For a
jolly good book
whereon to
look, Is better
to me than gold.*

*—Old English
Song*

*Oh, for a nook
and a story-
book, With
tales both new and old. For a
jolly good book
whereon to
look, Is better
to me than gold.*

*—Old English
Song*

